To replace the current self-issue machines in the Library and Computing Centre smartServe Lite - designed from the ground-up, this modern, stylish and intuitive library check-out unit is designed to attract customers, drawing them to use our self-service facilities.

With card and cash payment options, there is no better way to impress.

Additional functionality by way of a Payment Station attached smartServe Lite with a Payment Station attachment

With the add-on Payment Station, users can pay for fines or loan charges using chip and PIN, coins or notes.

In addition, the self-filling coin hopper provides change whilst also being almost maintenance free.

Benefits for users

- Speedier service
- Improved functionality
- All methods of payment available across all opening hours
- Modern, attractive design

Possible future developments

- Students may request an e-mail receipt rather than a paper copy
- Possibility of generating income by using the back of receipts for advertising
