The University Repository Team

In order to add your REF submission to the University’s RIMS system you must first add it to the University Repository. You can add items yourself or email the repository team at e.mailbox@hud.ac.uk

It is not compulsory to add the full text of REF outputs for 2014, but we still strongly encourage you to include it when submitting items to the repository.

Having the full text on Open Access increases the impact of outputs and greatly enhances the University’s research environment.

It also means that your research can be read in developing countries who cannot afford subscriptions to academic journals. We are also able to provide usage statistics for any full text items in the repository.

In order to add the full text of your research outputs we need the author accepted version.

The author accepted version is the author-created version that incorporates referee comments and is the version accepted for publication, but before the publishers apply their typesetting.

The repository team will check each publisher’s copyright policy on your behalf. For more information go to www.sherpa.ac.uk/romeo
