What’s new...?
...things you might have missed...

The iDesk
The iDesk is a full PC built into a ‘kiosk’ style case, but the company make bespoke solutions and claim to be able to build a computer into anything required!

All-in-One PCs
Stone have produced a new range of all-in-one PCs. They are available to the same specs as our normal PCs, come in 22 and 24 inch screen options, but cost no more than a standard PC and monitor.

Is it a laptop, or a tablet?
Samsung and HP both produce Windows 8 devices with detachable keyboards that can be used as laptops with the keyboard, or as tablets without.
